TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP

MOUNTAIN TERROIR

CLIMATE

Valley protected by mountains with low maritime influence. High-altitude vineyards with hot, dry summers and cold winters. The diurnal range is high during ripening, with hot days and cool nights.

Maturation is slow in these high-altitude vineyards, preserving elegance and acidity.

SOIL

Granite, low in clay and sandy. The soil is poor and acidic, shaping the wines with a high-acid profile.

WINE PROFILE

It has a medium-intensity yellow color, a deep and complex aroma, and a fresh, rounded, and persistent flavour. It also boasts excellent aging potential.
